

FUEL AND UNINVITED GUESTS TO THOSE BORN LATER

A DIGITAL DARK AGE IS COMING.

Soon hackers or a virus will corrupt our files and wipe our digital existence; all electronic records, digital photos, music playlists and personal messages gone.

The cloud and servers will fail and Google, Facebook, corporations and governments cannot guarantee our data will survive.

What image of our world should the people of the future see?

What stories will they tell about these times we're living through?

What do you want to be remembered?

We need to act now or our era will become a digital dark age, a period in history that leaves no trace. Join us in preserving something of you, your culture and the world you live in for those who are yet to be born, for future generations.

Every show will be different, made with and for each audience. The content of the time capsule will be chosen by people in the room and added to the growing archive of messages to the future.

To Those Born Later is an interactive performance. If you have a smartphone or tablet, please bring it with you as fully charged as possible.

© Sam Steer

Where and When is it on

Eccleston Library

Wednesday 18th September, 7.30pm

Newton-le-Willows Library

Thursday 19th September, 5.30pm

Parr Library

Saturday 21st September, 7.30pm

Who is it for

Adults and young people 12+

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

St. Helens
Council

Cost & Booking Info

£6, £5 (St Helens Library Card Holders), £3 (Concessions).

Book online at www.culturalhubs.eventbrite.co.uk or pop into Eccleston, Newton-le-Willows or Parr Libraries to purchase your tickets for that venue

Show Length
75 minutes

Access

Eccleston Library - BSL Interpreted Performance, parking and hands free access to library

Newton-le-Willows Library - ramp and push-pad access to library

Parr Library - parking, ramp access to library and accessible toilet

Programmed to coincide with Heritage Open Days 2019. To find out about all the other events that St Helens Libraries have programmed please visit: www.heritageopendays.org.uk